Digital Telecommunications Corp. Announces Double Diamond Associate Status with NEC Unified Solutions

DTC Strengthens Alliance with NEC Unified Solutions

Los Angeles, May 1, 2007 — Digital Telecommunications Corp. (DTC), an exclusive NEC distributor for over 20 years, today announced that it is now a Double Diamond Associate of NEC Unified Solutions' (NEC) Alliance Recognition Program. NEC Unified Solutions, a leader in converged communications solutions for the enterprise and small to medium businesses, created the Alliance program to recognize Associates' sales achievements, business strengths and to solidify the partnership between Associates and NEC.

The Double Diamond status is a three-dimensional method of recognition taking into account the Associate's relationship with NEC, its competitiveness in the marketplace, and overall technical expertise. Associates earn "points" for sales volumes, technical and application certifications, and percentage of NEC solutions within their business. By achieving Double Diamond status, the Associate is awarded special benefits from NEC including special training and demos, designation on NEC's website and certain discounts and rebates.

Since 1982, DTC has been providing voice solutions to enterprise, corporate and SMB markets, and, is also an NEC partner in the Vertical Market Specialist Program providing converged solutions for Government, Education, Healthcare and Hospitality. A full service company, DTC provides flexible maintenance plans insuring the long-term support of NEC's solutions.

"Our exclusivity to the NEC suite of converged solutions and our Double Diamond status provides DTC with a unique and enviable position in the market," said Ray Maccani, vice president of Sales for DTC. "In addition, our position endows us competitive advantages, especially considering the rate of IP or VoIP product introductions. We view our Double Diamond status as a mechanism to build an even stronger organization."

"Any culmination of two successful entities breeds foundation for success, and by creating this program, NEC is able to show its loyalty to our Channel community," said Larry Levenberg, vice president and general manager, National Channel, NEC Unified Solutions. "With the involvement of companies such as DTC our Channel community has become a vehicle for increased sales, creating opportunities that help enterprises communicate more efficiently and effectively."
