Debt and Credit Advisors Launches New Call Center with NEC's UNIVERGE® Platform and UC for Business Solution

UC Platform Addresses Increased Customer Calls

IRVING, TX, November 13, 2007 — NEC Unified Solutions, Inc., a leading provider of VoIP and data communications, today announced Debt and Credit Advisors, an independent organization that provides free consumer debt guidance and advice, has selected the NEC UNIVERGE® platform and UC for Business (UCB) to increase scalability and flexibility of its new call center.

"Debt and Credit Advisors opened for business on October 1 using the NEC UNIVERGE platform and UC for Business as the technology centerpiece of our call center," said Socorro Ramirez, Operations Manager for Debt and Credit Advisors. "We chose UNIVERGE and UCB for unified communications because of the flexibility it gives our call agents and ability to scale and grow our call center."

Digital Telecommunications Corp. (DTC), an NEC-exclusive dealer in Van Nuys, Calif., sold and installed the NEC solution. Debt and Credit Advisors utilizes NEC's UNIVERGE NEAX® 2000 IPS full-featured IP-based communications system and UCB to address an increasing number of incoming customer calls.

"As we discussed Debt and Credit Advisors' business needs, it became clear that he needed a platform that could provide both workforce optimization and business intelligence, while helping to improve the customer's experience," said Ray Maccani, vice president of sales for DTC. "We believe the NEC UCB solution met these criteria, affordability notwithstanding."

The UNIVERGE platform provides pure voice-over-IP (VoIP) peer-to-peer connections across corporate local and wide area networks (LAN/WAN) and also supports time division switching (TDM). Users have access to hundreds of service features used in building unique telephony applications that can help enhance productivity, reduce operating costs and lead to improved communications efficiency.

UCB is an enterprise-wide UC solution that merges contact center functionality with unified messaging, mobility and desktop telephony applications. UCB allows contact centers to control the delivery of every contact, regardless of media type, to ensure that certain faxes, emails, short message service (SMS) messages and requests generated from the Web are treated with the same care as phone calls.

"Small- to medium-sized business like Debt and Credit Advisors require solutions that enable them to grow while at the same time maintaining a high-level of customer service," said Larry Levenberg, vice president and general manager, national channel sales for NEC Unified Solutions. "By selling NEC's UNIVERGE and UCB solutions, DTC is empowering its customers to take full advantage of current and future technological advancements while streamlining contact handling, administration and reporting."
